

Positive news from MGI Australia as Graduate Academy paves the way for Young Accountants to advance

With a proven track record of excellence, MGI Australasia continues to spearhead innovative programs, enabling the next generation of accountants to navigate the challenges of the ever-evolving industry successfully.

Caterina Sullivan, Regional Coordinator of MGI Australasia, proudly represented the network at the highly anticipated Chartered Accountants Australia and New Zealand (CAANZ) Public Sector Forum. This prominent event, held recently, provided a platform for professionals to address the challenges surrounding the attraction, recruitment and retention of accountants within the industry.

As an accounting network that represents firms across Australia and New Zealand, MGI Australasia has been at the forefront of revolutionising the field, and Caterina's participation in the forum exemplifies the network's commitment to the growth and development of the accounting profession.

Caterina presented MGI Australasia's innovative initiative, the MGI Australasia Graduate Academy.

Renowned as one of the premier programs in Australasia, the MGI Australasia Graduate Academy offers individualised technical training and comprehensive professional development over the course of 40 weeks.

This unique initiative ensures that graduate accountants receive specialised guidance tailored to their needs, equipping them with the skills, knowledge and practical experience required to excel in their careers.

During her presentation, Caterina emphasised the transformative impact of the Graduate Academy on the development of young accountants. By combining rigorous technical training with personalized mentorship and real-world projects, the program instills a deep understanding of the profession while nurturing essential soft skills, such as communication, critical thinking and leadership.

"As the accounting landscape continues to evolve, it is vital for firms to adapt their approaches to attract and retain skilled accountants. Through our MGI Australasia Graduate Academy, we are committed to equipping young accountants with the necessary tools and experiences to thrive in their careers," stated Caterina.

With a proven track record of excellence, MGI Australasia continues to spearhead innovative programs, enabling the next generation of accountants to navigate the challenges of the ever-evolving industry successfully.

Caterina concludes: "Thank you to CAANZ for inviting us to be a part of your insightful forum. We look forward to continue working with you to further develop the accounting industry to best suit our clients' needs and help them achieve 'Success Your Way'".
